The Company is constantly conducting an in-depth analysis of its business and organisational arrangements including best execution arrangements, inducement practices, remuneration practices and research/marketing communication procedures, to ensure that all likely conflicts of interest situations are identified regardless of materiality. The Company has identified the following circumstances which give rise to a conflict of interest entailing a risk of damage to the interests of one or more Clients, as a result of providing investment services:

a) Remuneration of staff:

In order for the Company to manage the potential conflicts arising out of this practice, does not provide variable remuneration to its employees.

b) Commissions received by its Liquidity Provider:

In some cases where the Company sends orders for execution to its liquidity provider(s), the Company’s liquidity provider (the “Liquidity Provider”) pays the Company a rebate commission for the order flow sent for execution. In order for the Company to manage the potential conflicts arising out of this practice, it has put in place the below procedures and arrangements regarding the commissions received by the Liquidity Provider:

- (a) The Company has examined this and has recorded how the commissions received from its Liquidity Provider enhance the quality of the services provided to Clients and the steps taken in order not to impair the Company's duty to act honestly, fairly and professionally in accordance with the best interests of its clients.
- (b) The Company declares that this benefit does not induce it to favour the particular Liquidity Provider over other liquidity providers and it is confident that the Client would be better off under this arrangement compared to the use/employment of other arrangements (including other liquidity providers).

Measures in relation to the Company's structure/ outsourced service providers/ related parties:

- (i) The Company has in place non-disclosure and confidentiality agreements with all related parties, outsourced service providers or members of the group in relation to Clients' personal information;
- (ii) The Company controls the information communicated between the Company's entities, related parties and outsourced service providers to ensure no harm to the Client's interests;
- (iii) The Company maintains a register of all the related party/outsourced provider payments made and assesses them in terms of conflicts that may negatively affect Client's interests. Where relevant these conflicts are disclosed in this Policy along with the mitigating factors applied to ensure the removal of any incentives for malpractice;

If during the course of a business relationship with a Client or group of Clients, the organizational or administrative arrangements/measures in place are not sufficient to avoid or manage a conflict of interest relating to that Client or group of Clients, the Company will clearly disclose the conflict of interest and the steps taken to mitigate those risks before undertaking further business with the Client or group of Clients.
